

Freaks of a Panther.

Franks of a Panther.—A disagreeable incident seems to have to some degree interfered with the comfort of three hundred passengers on board the vessel Glenavoy, on its voyage to Calcutta. One night, when they were slumbering, twelve of the passengers were suddenly disturbed by the gambol of a black panther, who had escaped from a cage in which it was confined, and used itself by making springs over the heads of the passengers, and by attracting attention, by various available means of exit were thrown on, and all the passengers reached the deck in safety. One man alone was distressed by the attack, and the skin of the animal, a large strip of which was torn off his back, the panther could not be found, it was concluded that he must have the next evening the passengers were down to the deck to see the by.

During the night, however, the storm turned up again. Some boat-fire's stores being required from the main, and the boats being run down to get them, when he prey returned, exclaiming in trembling accents, "Tiger gottee down!" The captain, determined to see the tiger, followed the lieutenant for his breech-loading rifle cartridges, and went down the hatch by himself, and ordered it to be fired after him, and he would load again get on deck, and cause our annoyance and alarm to the tigers. On reaching the deck of the tiger's den, he saw a tiger of large, yellowish eyes of the animal crouched down on him from the top of the spar stowed along the ship's side. Taking up his rifle, he was admitted by the port, the captain took a steady aim at what he counted the animal's body, and fired. The yellow tiger, however, was not shot being fired, the powder, during seven feet eight inches in the air, rolled down at the captain's feet to the ground, and, as the animal, of his possession, was Arctia.

BIDWELL FARM.—The Northern Spring furnishes the following concerning the crops, etc., of this rated farm: The present crop is an area of 2,800 acres, 2,000 of which is sown in wheat and the remainder in barley, clover and alfalfa. The wheat sown is of the white, while and Chile, bowzel, native of north sea, patent-office, elb and Sonora. Everything is looking in splendid condition. The whole fields of grain present a uniform appearance, and the wheat is in a mixture of any kind to be seen. The average yield will at least be 80 bushels to the acre, while some of the best will reach 90 bushels to the acre. Seven hundred tons of hay have been harvested and housed this season. The alfalfa was sown last year, and the first crop of alfalfa were sown last year from 12 acres of which on the day of April 42 tons of hay were cut from the same piece of ground.

COUNTY AND TOWN OFFICIAL PAPER.

WOODLAND, CAL.

Saturday, June 29th, 1872.

CANDIDATES.—There are already half-a-dozen Presidential candidates in the field, embracing both sexes and both colors.

LIQUOR LICENSE.—San Jose charges a license tax of $25 per quarter for retailing liquors. The license in Woodland is $5 per month.

PURE VACCINE.—Dr. Patmore and Jackson have inoculated a cow with smallpox virus, and in a few days will have plenty of pure vaccine matter.

"THE POULTRY WORLD."—This is a monthly publication, by H. H. Stoddard, Hartford, Conn., devoted exclusively to the subject of poultry. $1 a year, and cheap at double the price.

A SAMPLE MORCEAU.—The new editor of the Mail, in a long, labored article, speaks of the Democracy as "fresh from wallowing in the 'last ditch,'" etc. That will do for a starter.

"HANDICRAFT."—As its name purports, this is a work published in the interest of artisans and mechanics; monthly, $1 a year, by the Handicraft Publishing Company, 37 Park Row, New York.

SMALL POX.—This scourge is becoming epidemic in San Francisco. In one day, lately, eight patients were taken to the pest house. We see it stated that it has made its appearance in Santa Rosa.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Henry Harrison, while working with a threshing machine near Putah Creek, Solano county, the other day, got his leg caught in the machinery and was so badly injured that he died in a short time.

FROM DAVIS TO GREELEY.—The San Francisco Enterprise and Co-ordinator, the workingman's paper, has hauled down Davis and Parker, and run up Greeley and Brown to the head of its columns. It says Davis and Parker are virtually out of the field.

VOORHEES.—The Vincennes (Indiana) Sun of the 15th says that Mr. Voorhees has given out that he will abide by the action of the Baltimore Convention. Sensible conclusion, Voorhees has been too long a Democrat not to abide by the decision of the National Convention.

HOW FUTILE.—The Butte Record puts it very strong when it says: "The attempt of the Federal office-holders to beat Greeley with Grant, is about as foolish as would be the attempt to bore a hole in the sun with an icicle. And yet Tom Shannon and Billy Carr are endeavoring to induce the people to try the experiment."

NEW MUSIC.—A new Mazurka Brilliant, composed for the piano forte by Manfred Karl, and just published by the leading music house of the coast, M. Gray, 623-25 Clay street, San Francisco, is to hand and is a first-class production. It can be had for 50 cts. by addressing the publisher as above, who also deals in all kinds of music and musical instruments.

CONGRESSIONAL.—In the first district only have the Democrats nominated, E. J. C. Kewen being the nominee, and he will sweep the District like wildfire. The delegates of the Second and Third Districts concluded not to nominate at present, but to meet at the call of the Congressional Committee. The Fourth—San Francisco—elects delegates to the Congressional Convention on the 15th of July.

FATAL R. R. DISASTER.—Latest particulars of a terrible casualty on the Grand Trunk railroad in Canada gives the number of deaths as thirty, most of whom were lumbermen and telegraph line builders. The coroner's jury fully exonerate the Company and Engineer from all blame and state that the causes were purely accidental. The Engineer is said to have been a sober and efficient man and died at his post.

"AN ACROSTIC."—Under the head of "Friendly Retaliation," in the last Mail, appears a rhetorical refutation of an editorial article in the previous issue, which referred to a communication by "Ragnhu," opposing the tent preachers and their doctrines. By reading down the initial letters of said "Friendly Retaliation," it will be seen that "Ragnhu" has got in the following "friendly" lick: "A. E. Wagstaff—you are a humbug."

TAKEN A PARTNER.—A. E. Wagstaff, of the Yolo Mail, has taken in a partner in the person of R. D. Hopkins, formerly of the Napa Register. From the brief salutatory and accompanying announcement, we conclude the new partner will hereafter dish up the editorial thunder for the Mail, while the senior partner retires upon his laurels won as a brilliant writer, and will hereafter devote his time and talents to the mechanical department.

OTHER CHANGES.—The Detroit Daily Post, formerly edited by Carl Schurz, and until recently one of the most blatant Radical Grant sheets in the country, has followed the example of Mr. Schurz in forsaking the rotten bulk of Radicalism, and is now out and fair and square for Greeley. The Philadelphia Post, another Radical Administration organ, heretofore, boldly says: "To reflect Grant after so many proofs of his unfitness and of his dictatorial spirit, would be a dangerous experiment for the Republic."

POSITIVELY INFAMOUS.

When a desperado has a villainous object to accomplish he does not hesitate to resort to desperate means to insure his chances of success. So it was with the Congress of the United States, just adjourned. That most despicable measure of oppression, the Ku-Klux Bill, by its own terms expired by limitation with the session of Congress. But a Presidential campaign was coming on. Grant, the head of the army (of office-holders as well as soldiers), is in the field for reelection, and without the Southern vote he stands no earthly chance of success. So, to enable him to awe the Southern people into submission to his mandates and force them to vote for himself for President, the infamous Ku-Klux Bill must needs be reenacted. It had been staved off till the very close of the session, leading most people to hope it would die a natural death. But its friends knew their strength. There was one way in which they could surely pass it, and that was to tack it on to the Civil Service Appropriation Bill, which is always left till the last days of the session. Without the passage of this Appropriation Bill there would be no funds to carry on the machinery of the Government, and that must be passed. So the diabolical measure is tacked on to it and rushed through by a strict party vote, save that of one honorable Republican who voted with the Democrats, every one of whom of course voted against it. Now everybody knows that if there ever was any necessity for such a measure, it long ago ceased to exist. There is no more need of it in the South to-day than there is in California. And the object of its reenactment is apparent to all. It gives Grant the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, to control the elections by force of arms in the Southern States, and, in the words of a contemporary, "to ride rough-shod over the prostrate necks of eight millions of white slaves in the Southern States." The only hope for the South is, that this poisonous dose will prove too heavy to have the desired effect, and that it will consequently act as its own antidote. Talk about amnesty (which means pardon or forgiveness for past offenses)—why that would be to exercise a quality of mercy and justice entirely foreign to the feelings or wishes of those who have extended the provisions of the Ku-Klux bill for another term of years! And hence, amnesty was not made complete and general in the South. But we believe that the people of the whole country will demand justice toward the South, and insist upon fair and honorable treatment of the Southern people. There is no disposition to evade the laws on the part of the people there, and there is likewise no reason why they should be oppressed by a tyrannical Administration. Always odious, the reenactment of this infamous measure makes it now more odious. If such a measure for an undeserved tyranny with Grantism, and result in its utter overthrow, then we shall be mistaken.

LET JUSTICE BE DONE.—We last week published a communication under the head "In Defense," by Rev. Mr. Urmy, and this week give place to replies to that and another by the same author sent to a San Francisco paper. We believe in the principle of allowing both sides of every debatable question to have a hearing. This is a rule with us, but it of course does not follow that we endorse either side. And we will say in this connection, that there are those in this community who seem to have a peculiar idea of the duty of a newspaper. It must favor their particular notions, or else be set down as in sympathy with the opposite side. Statements of facts do not satisfy that class of persons. All we have to say is, that so far as this paper is concerned, it does not propose to be partial to any religious denomination or sect, nor will it insult or injure any, but serve all alike. We have always been ready to assist any and all of them when in our power, and shall continue to do so. Those who don't know what course a newspaper should pursue in such matters had better have a little less to say about it. We never ignore the advice of friends, but are just vain enough to think we understand our own business, and the duty of this journal to the public in such matters, better than anybody else.

THE STATE FAIR.—From the officers of the State Board of Agriculture we have received a complimentary season ticket to the State Fair of 1872, which commences at Sacramento on the 19th and closes on the 28th of September. Several copies of the Preliminary List have also come to hand. Yolo has two members of the Board—Hon. C. F. Reed, of Grafton, President; and R. S. Carey, Esq., of Putah, member of the Board of Directors. I. N. Hoag, of Sacramento, is Corresponding Secretary. Over $200,000 has been appropriated for premiums, besides which, Special Premiums will be given for all worthy articles not mentioned in the List; and, in addition, "a Gold Medal to the most meritorious exhibition in each of the seven Departments," classified as follows: First, live stock; second, machinery, implements, etc.; third, textile fabrics, mill and domestic products; fourth, mechanical products; fifth, agricultural products, sixth, horticultural products; seventh, fine arts, etc. The Central Pacific Railroad Company will transport all animals and articles exhibited at the Fair over their respective routes free of charge, and excursion tickets to passengers going to the Fair and returning, at about half the regular rates.

Pen Picture of Grant.

The account given of General Grant by Jerome B. Stillman, in a letter to the New York World, is far from being a pleasant theme for contemplation. We dislike to have to chronicle such a picture of the President of the United States; but in view of his position, together with the fact that he is again nominated for President, it becomes our duty to expose, to the extent of our ability, the character of the man who now occupies the Presidential chair, and who is seeking the votes of the people to place him in the same position for another four years. This is no new thing to the public, and we would fain have drawn the veil over so shameful a picture, were it not that the subject of it still remained in public life and aspires to a second term. He is therefore a subject for just criticism. No man ought to vote for a candidate for President of the United States without knowing what manner of man he is voting for. Therefore we wish every voter to read the following before casting his ballot for Grant. The correspondent of the World, above referred to, says: "The President, said an evening paper, 'took his usual Saturday holiday to-day, and in consequence saw no visitors.' This explains why he happened to be lounging at the White House gate when he passed up the driveway that afternoon. A glance at his profile showed that the hot-looking flush on his cheek had not faded, and that the dissipated aspect of his whole countenance had not been chastened by recent self-denial. The exceedingly coarse complexion and unrefined nature of our President recalled to mind the drunken wood-chopper on a forty-acre farm near St. Louis; the drunken tanner at forty dollars a month wages near Galena; the drunkard General at the St. Charles Hotel, Cairo; the drunken companion of President Johnson on his tour 'round the circle.' The Lieutenant-General who, the Independent said, 'had been seen unmistakably drunk in the streets of Washington,' the dignitary who was reported by the Tribune to have been seen in the Executive mansion 'so drunk that he could hardly stand on his legs,' the President who, as a Senator remarked one day, sometimes appears on the avenue 'in first-rate spirits.' The phenomenon of this little group of men's success engaged my thoughts during my walk. Undoubtedly, he is one of those who have greatness thrust upon them."

POSTING THE BOOKS.—The Cincinnati Enquirer has been posting the books, and ten days ago arrived at the following result: Number of delegates elected to Baltimore in favor of endorsing Greeley and Brown, 253; against endorsing, 7. It sets down the delegations from Tennessee, New York, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Florida and South Carolina as unanimous for endorsement; West Virginia, 9 for endorsement—1 against; and Delaware, 6 against. Since that time Maryland, Missouri, Vermont, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, California and Oregon have been heard from, and all are reported as favorable to ratifying the Cincinnati nominations except Oregon.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A COLUMN of smoke is ascending from the summit of Mount Hood, in Oregon, and is expected to take place from the old crater.

MISS TENNIS C. CLAPLIN having been elected Colonel of the Eighty-seventh Regiment of New York militia, she must ride astride or resign.

CONGRESS has adjourned, and until December proximo there is no danger to be apprehended from the Great Island grab. The people must prepare to send a sound anti-grab delegation to Congress next time.

THIS is the Dolly Varden ticket: For President, Victoria C. Woodhull, young white woman. For Vice President, Fred Douglass, old black man. This is a showy pattern with strong contrasts of color.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Iowa Homestead describes a pear tree which was grafted on the Hawthorn in 1865, and which is now about fifty feet nine inches in circumference. It bears more than fifty bushels of pears annually.

THE net earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad for May amounted to the usual large sum of $1,221,000, an increase of $23,000 over the same month of last year. The net earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad for April were $355,000, or $20,000 in excess of the same month of last year.

DURING the last eruption of Vesuvius the workers engaged in excavations at Hericulanum and Pompeii were stopped and ordered instantly to quit the neighborhood. It is believed there was great danger that the lava would again bury those famous cities. This eruption of Vesuvius is the most tremendous that has occurred since 79, nearly eighteen hundred years ago.

IN the game of checkers and chess a party would be sure to win if, in addition to his own pieces, he could be permitted to suggest those of his adversary against him. If this is true, what are we to think of the Republic following the advice of the Republican press, which all advise us to make a "straight Democratic nomination" at Baltimore for President and Vice President?

HENRY CLAY was nominated for President unanimously 1844, and Martin Van Buren unanimously nominated in 1840. Both were beaten at the polls. This is not a pleasant sign for Grant. The fact is, declamation cannot be generally the ones most easily beaten. This country has got to be too big to be the property of one man. When it is run as it now is, in the interest of one man, there is generally a smash-up just ahead.

BRAIN-WORK costs more food than hand-work. According to careful estimates and analyses of the excretions, three hours of hard study wears out the body more than a whole day of severe physical labor. Another evidence of the cost of brain work is obtained from the fact that though the brain is only one-fortieth the weight of the body it receives about one-fifth of all the blood sent by the heart into the system. Brain-workers therefore require a more liberal supply of food, and richer food, than manual laborers.

SAYS the Galveston News: "Had Mr. Greeley's counsels been followed, the Southern States would have been reconstructed four or five years ago. The bitter recollections of the war would have passed away, and the divide between the Colonies and Great Britain, at the close of the revolution, and the North and South would have long since been restored to harmonious and friendly relations, and the property would have taken the place of the present almost universal desolation, poverty and bankruptcy which pervade the South."

THE funeral of the late James Gordon Bennett took place Thursday, the 28th inst. Archbishop McCloskey, the very Rev. Dr. Starr officiating. The remains were inclosed in a casket said to be the finest ever made in this country. It is heavily square, and is of wood which outlasts metal. The side panels are covered with the costliest velvet. The eight handles were made expressly for this funeral, and are of wood which outlasts metal. The lid or top is of two panels of French crystal plate glass, covered when required by two black silk velvet caps, and on one rests the silver name-plate; the whole lid is hung on silver hinges, and closed with two silver locks; and then the entire casket is mounted in a massive frame-work of silver mounting of chased design, inlaid with mother of pearl in such a manner that it will last for ages. The inside is upholstered and decorated in white silk, satin and Venetian lace.

The Culture of Mushrooms.

In answer to the inquiry of T. R. Lake View Farm, we copy the following from the Canada Farmer:

Many persons regard the culture of mushrooms as a great mystery. But it is not so. On the contrary, it is as simple as raising a crop of corn, or cultivating a grapevine, or bed of cabbage, and can be done in out-of-the-way places, taking up the room, and requiring little attention. Mushrooms can be raised in winter, with no other crop can be, and a regular supply for family use. Or, if collected on a larger scale, with a view to profit, it is no more difficult than raising a crop in our city markets, there is nothing to hinder, and a most profitable thing can be made of the business. All farmers keep horses and cattle, and have plenty of manure, and it may be mentioned that the quantity used in forming mushroom beds is not lost, for it can, when new beds are made, be returned to the manure yard. It must be borne in mind, too, that there is no necessity to build a place to grow this vegetable. It can be grown almost anywhere in an enclosed place—even in the kitchen or sitting room—but the best, out-of-the-way places are a close horse-stable, which is regarded as the best of all; build cellars, enclosed out-houses of almost every kind, where the soil in the beds can be kept from freezing.

Now, for the mode of growing. Take a box, say ten or twelve inches high, and as long and broad as the space will admit of, or may be desired; pick it down with six inches of horse-droppings; on top three inches of dry cow-droppings, broken somewhat fine; moisten this, not wetting or deluging it with a strong brine of nitre or saltpetre water. In this cow manure plant the spawn, which can be obtained at the best horticultural establishment in the form of a brick; break in good sized pieces, say as large as a walnut, and set in triangular shape, thus: * and cover with from an eighth to a quarter of an inch, not more than the latter, of fine dry soil. Cover the whole with old carpet or any heavy cloth, so that the light is completely excluded. Of course it needs no sun, but just the contrary, as perfect darkness is required.

Plantation Bitters

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful Vegetable Restorative

is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is unsurpassed every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.
